POMP AND PANOPLY

Brilliant Ceremony Marks Wedding in Historic Westminster Abbey

London, April 26.—Alfred, Duke of York, was united in marriage, with Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon in solemn old Westminster Abbey at noon today with a pomp and panoply reminiscent of the spacious days of the mid-Victorian era and amid the tumultuous demonstration of the vast throngs that gathered under threatening skies to witness the wedding pageant.

As the courtiers entered the Abbey a slight drizzle of rain fell, but soon afterward the sun broke through the clouds and as the royal pair made their exit today they were greeted with brilliant sunshine, recalling the old saying: "Happy is the bride the sun shines on."

Marries Out of Royalty
It was the second time in a little more than a year that the King and Queen of England gave one of their children in wedlock to a person outside the realm of royalty. While the marriage of the sovereign's second son did not stir the popular imagination of the British empire as did Princess Mary's wedding the romance which turned a simple girl into a royal prince's bride and elevated her from a position of relative obscurity to the place of the fourth lady of the land captured the hearts of the English people.

The fact that Lady Elizabeth's marriage to the Duke of York makes her eligible to wear the crown of the empire in the event anything untoward befalls the Prince of Wales imparted an additional note of significance and interest to the event.

Many guests were present at the ceremony which was both a great religious and social event and was marked by a glittering exhibition of fashion and sumptuous jewels. Eight hundred of England's greatest luminaries in state, court, and society, as well as an impressive assemblage of foreign princes, dukes, duchesses and others of rank and title, were there attired in finery and jeweled embellishments that resembled the proverbial king's ransom.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by England's most distinguished prelate, solemnized the union.

Wales Is Prominent
The Prince of Wales took a prominent part in the proceedings. Wales and his brother, Prince Henry, acted as best men but it was Wales who produced the ring at the critical moment.

The eight bridesmaids were chosen mainly from among the personal friends of the bride. They were dressed in immaculate ivory white draped chiffon trimmed with Nottingham lace and presented a fairy-like picture.

Lady Elizabeth was attired in an exquisite gown of white ivory moire chiffon embellished with bands of silver and pearl embroidery. A 15-foot-long ivory-colored net hung from the shoulders.

The Duke was dressed in the uniform of an officer of the Royal Air Forces. King George wore the field uniform of a general while Queen Mary's gown was of white, blue and silver.

Harvey's Attire
Seats were limited to those on intimate terms of the families of the bride and bridegroom or whose official status entitled them to witness the ceremony. George Harvey, the American ambassador, was a striking figure in tight velvet knee-breeches, silk stockings and other court regalia while Mr. Harvey attracted wide attention with her gown of beige crepe with over-dress of black lace and sash and vest of beige crepe embroidered in oriental colors. She wore sable furs and a black crinoline hat trimmed with lace bows.

BRITONS BELIEVE DUCHESS OF YORK MAY BECOME ENGLAND'S QUEEN

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF YORK.

By Milton Bronner
NEA Service Staff Writer
London, April 26.—When the British king's second son, the Duke of York, led Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon to the altar today the event had extraordinary interest because there is an increasing feeling that his wife will some day be queen of England.

Britons are more and more inclining to the belief that the handsome and tremendously popular Prince of Wales has decided to be a bachelor. At any rate, he is still court-whole and fancy-free at an age when most heirs to a throne are married and rearing a family.

Lady Elizabeth, immediately upon her marriage, will become fourth lady in the land. At all information state affairs she will rank only after Queen Mary, the Dowager Queen Alexandra and Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles.

There is every indication that the duke and his bride will be increasingly popular with the British people, he because of his genuine interest in industrial reform and she because of her good looks and pleasing ways.

The duke, who is 28, has been trained both in the navy and in the air force. He is rather democratic in his ways and delights in learning firsthand what are conditions in big industrial plants. He is no lover of official fuss and feathers.

The duke has no property. His allowance of $50,000 a year from the state was increased to $125,000 today. His bride has no fortune, either, so the couple will have to keep up their princely rank and perform all their public duties out of the prince's official allowance.

The duchess is the type of pretty girl who often does not take a good picture. She is not very tall, has dark hair and deep blue eyes and the pink complexion that is her heritage from her Scotch blood. She is well read, sings a bit, plays the piano, golfs only slightly, but is a keen dancer and tennis player.

PROBE WENTZ DEATH AGAIN
Board of Administration to Inquire Further Into Case

Further investigation into the case of Louis Wentz, who died at the state insane hospital at Jamestown and whose body, according to relatives, bore evidence of mistreatment, will be made by the state board of administration at Grand Forks Friday.

Discrepancies between testimony from the undertaker who handled the body at Jamestown and reports from the undertaker who handled the body at Grand Forks will form the basis of the investigation, it is understood.

Jamestown hospital authorities informed the state board that Wentz had to be restrained in his bed before his death, and that bruises on the body were occasioned by him falling or leaping out.

Sioux County Officials Have Traded Positions
Fort Yates, N. D., April 26.—Two Sioux county officials who virtually trade the positions of auditor and treasurer, found themselves in somewhat of a dilemma in keeping both offices going while making the change.

F. B. Fiske's term as auditor expired April 1, and he was scheduled to begin his duties as treasurer May 1.

J. R. Harmon's predicament was worse. With a month left to serve as county treasurer he was up against the necessity of qualifying for auditor, to which post he was elected last fall.

The puzzle was solved thus: Mr. Harmon resigned as treasurer and qualified as auditor, while the commissioners appointed Mr. Fiske county treasurer for a month, that is until he begins the regular term.

PREDICT HEAVY WHEAT CUT IN NORTHERN N. D.

Lateness of Season to Cut Acreage 20 Per Cent Is Prediction

OTHER CROPS BOOSTED

Increase in Flax, Corn and Sweet Clover Indicated by Crop Reports

Fargo, N. D., April 26.—Reduction in wheat acreages ranging from 5 per cent in the southern half of the state to 20 per cent in the Canadian border counties with increases in summer fallow, flax, corn and sweet clover are indicated by crop reports received at the Extension division office, North Dakota Agricultural college, from 28 county extension agents of the state for the week ending April 21. While a number of counties in the Slope district and south central part of the state reported seeding operations general last week, only a bare start has been made in the Red River valley and central part of the state, and in the northern tier of counties and northeastern part of the state, only a handful of farmers have been in the fields. Labor shortages in several localities have further hindered operations.

Weather during the first half of this week has been unfavorable to hasty seeding operations. From five to ten inches of snow fell Monday, April 23, at points in central and western North Dakota and light rains were recorded in the eastern part of the state. A small amount of rain also fell at Fargo Tuesday night and Wednesday, and during the same period rain and snow were reported at Williston. Snow was reported at all stations in Canada north of the state border Wednesday, and R. L. Spencer, official U. S. Weather Bureau observer at Moorhead, declared there was a chance that the snow would extend into North Dakota. The forecast was "unsettled Wednesday night and Thursday."

Half Seeding Done.
Greatest progress in spring seeding has apparently been made in Dickey and LaMoure counties, where about one-half of the wheat seeding has been finished and seeding of feed crops has commenced. On the other hand, many northern counties report that no farmers had started seeding as yet at the end of the week. In the Red River valley section, less than 5 per cent of the wheat has been seeded at this time. Reports show that seeding cannot be general before the end of this week. Statistics for North Dakota show that seeding operations should be general April 21, making the present season a week to ten days late considering the state as a whole.

Late seeding of wheat has a tendency to decrease the chances of a profitable crop in the opinion of authorities of the North Dakota Agricultural college, who point out that the necessary growing period for the crop to reach maturity is practically stationary, despite the date of seeding, and that the chances are greatly increased for damage from black stem rust, hot winds and drought at the time the heads are filling, and ravages of gophers and insects. Some flax on land which is free from weeds and suitably prepared, or planting feed and pasture crops as a substitute for wheat is advisable, these authorities state, although they point out that the late season does not necessarily mean a poor wheat crop, but simply increases the chances for a reduced yield.

Reports from several counties of the state for last week received from the county extension agents, follow:

Willams.
A few farmers are plowing and sowing wheat on high land and the indications are that seeding operations will be quite general next week. A heavy rain fell April 19 and the land is so wet that little work has been possible during the past week. Alfalfa and sweet clover plants are beginning to sprout.—E. G. Schellander, Williston.

Grant.
Seeding operations have been on in full swing during the entire week. The greater share of the corn ground has been seeded. A considerable amount of grain is being stubbled in. There was a little rain during the week. Meadows and pastures are showing green in some localities.—R. C. Newcomer, Carson.

Golden Valley.
Due to the wet conditions of the soil much seeding has been done. Cold weather has prevailed with a rain fall of 45 inch Thursday.—J. C. Russell, Beach.

Pembina.
All of the snow has gone except the large snow drifts and the weather during the past week has been ideal for drying the fields. A few farmers who have light land started seeding the latter part of the week. In the eastern half of the county seeding operations will not be general before May 1. Due to the large amount of water, especially in the low spots, it is quite probable that the wheat acreage will be reduced from that of last year. Farmers report an increased flax acreage. PROBE CHARGES OF GRAFT BY DRY AGENTS

Washington, April 26.—An investigation into the many charges that graft is being practiced on or among federal prohibition agents has been begun by the federal internal revenue bureau under which the prohibition units operate. Treasury officials said today that considerable data had been laid before Commissioner Blair, but thus far the inquiry had disclosed no losses to the government.

Steamer Answering S. O. S. Finds Ship But No Trace of Passengers

London, April 26.—A Reuters dispatch from Capetown says that the Portuguese mail steamer Mosamedes which grounded several days ago at Cape Frio, southwest Africa, has been found abandoned with no sign of the 237 passengers she carried. Thus far, the dispatch adds, no boats ashore are known but she sent out an S. O. S. call for help. The British steamer Port Victor, which was 200 miles away, raced to her assistance, arriving about midnight on Tuesday. The Port Victor found the Mosamedes abandoned.

The British steamer, the dispatch says, still is searching for the boat. If necessary the German steamer Urania, which is coaling at Walvis, will assist in the search.

Chicago, April 26.—Federal indictments naming seven men as well as the firm of Grommes and Ullrich, liquor dealers, which recently was dissolved by distribution of a $200,000 stock of liquors to the stockholders, were returned before District Judge Wilkerson today by the federal grand jury.

The firm and the individuals, which includes Charles A. Williams, the attorney who had charge of the legal details in connection with the liquidation of the firm; former Aldeiman John Mulcahy, and five others, were charged with violation of the federal prohibition law and with aiding and abetting the illegal transportation of liquor.

Introduction of Politics Held Likely to Cause Abandonment of Harding Trip

Washington, April 26.—With the next few days expected to bring a more definite crystallization in Republican ranks on the world court issue the political aspect of President Harding's unequivocal commitment for the proposal of American participation in his New York address today continued to hold the close attention of party leaders.

All shades of reaction to the president's firmly spoken adherence to the proposal were manifested soon after his return to the capital. The preponderance of sentiment among leaders as openly expressed favored the executive stand and saw little to fear in opposition forces of a party split if the advent of American membership in the world court was pursued. There also were suggestions of compromise on the proposals.

CONVENTIONS COMING HERE

Three Scheduled for June and July in Bismarck

Three conventions are scheduled for Bismarck during June and July. It was stated today at the Association of Commerce offices.

The state dentists' association will hold its annual meeting here on June 5, 6 and 7. The state bankers' convention comes here Tuesday, 27, and 28, and the state convention of postal employees will be held in the city on July 19.

Nurses going from Bismarck to Minot to the state convention soon will take an invitation for the holding of the 1924 convention in this city, and a similar invitation has been extended the North Dakota Education Association.

DE VALERA IS STILL FREE

London, April 26.—There is no foundation for the report from Paris that Eamon DeValera was captured by Free State forces last Saturday near Cork and that official announcement of the capture was impending, it was declared in responsible quarters today. The source to which the report is credited has no means of knowledge, it is asserted, and the account was characterized as a "joke."

Chinese government has issued a decree forbidding the exportation of cotton.

Ceylon exported 171,392,249 pounds of tea last year, of which 70 per cent was shipped to Great Britain. The United States was second best customer.

Dr. C. H. Waldron of the state agricultural college will give a free, illustrated talk at the Bismarck Auditorium Friday night at 8 p. m. on the general subject of parks, trees and methods of beautifying homes and the city as a whole.

Dr. Waldron is coming to the city at the instance of the Association of Commerce, committees from which are co-operating to urge observance of Native Life Week and Arbor day in the city, April 30 to May 5, inclusive. Dr. Waldron will explain methods of planting and caring for plants and trees, as a part of his talk, especially to aid Bismarck people in their plantings during the next week.

Many beautiful views will be shown during the talk.

MILLION TO BE SPENT IN STATE WORK

Much Building Authorized in 1921 Legislature to be Finished This Year

LITTLE 1921 MONEY

Work to Begin Soon on Building at Mandan, Boys to Furnish Labor

Building work costing a million dollars will be completed at various state institutions this year. In every instance but two the entire appropriations were made by the 1921 legislature, but because of lack of funds or other reasons there was delay in carrying out the legislative enactment.

Work with funds appropriated by the legislature of 1923 will be done this year only at the state training school, Mandan; Dickinson Normal and Liberty Memorial building, Bismarck.

Boys at the state training school at Mandan will furnish most of the labor for a new gymnasium, on which work will be started within two or three weeks. The Board of Administration will employ a superintendent of construction and contract for material. There will be no general building contract.

The gymnasium will be 128 by 80 feet. Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated for this work by the 1921 legislature, but no work has been done since that time.

Status of institutional building work is given at the Board of Administration offices as follows:

Boys' dormitory, institution for feeble-minded, Grafton, $100,000 appropriated by 1921 legislature; to be completed by Jan. 1, 1924. With about $75,000 appropriated by 1922 legislature, total building cost will be $100,000. Most of money appropriated in 1921.

Gymnasium, Valley City Teachers College, $60,000 appropriated in 1923. To be ready for occupancy October 1.

Amusement hall, state insane hospital, Jamestown, $50,000 appropriated in 1921. To be completed this year.

Wing on Minot Normal, $100,000 appropriated in 1921. To be completed by beginning of school year next fall.

LEGISLATIVE PARTY ANGRY AT ACTIONS

Complain of Attempts at Intimidation when Tabert Grave Is Visited

TO EXHUME THE BODY

Shower Interrupts Efforts to Take Body from Grave in Convict Camp

RESENTMENT FELT

Tallahassee, Fla., April 26.—Keen resentment was expressed at the state capital today when it became known that an armed crowd had met the committee on its arrival in Clara, ignored the official party and openly threatened the negro witness Johnson, who accompanied the legislative investigation committee, to the scene of Tabert's death. There was seen a possibility in the resentment that the matter would reach the house or senate before the committee could act on itself.

Rep. Kennery regarded the reception accorded the party as "an outrage." He declared he intended to see that a full investigation is made an asserted that charges of intimidation would be preferred against the parties responsible.

Clara, Fla., April 26.—A silent display of firearms greeted the members of the joint legislative committee here on their arrival with Arthur Johnson, former convict, to exhume the body of Tabert of Miami, N. D., who was alleged to have died of injuries received at the hands of a "whipping boss" in a private convict camp here.

The firemen were strapped to the hips of several shirt-sleeved men, against whom charges of intimidation will be made, it was announced by Representative J. Clay Smith and J. S. Kennery, members of the committee. Johnson, who testified at the legislative committee's hearing that Tabert's body was buried in a spot three miles away from where his grave now stands, appeared to have been the center of interest.

Guide Is Frightened.
The committee arrived here about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Johnson was riding in the front seat of the automobile with the legislators. Without extending any salutations to the committee members, "Captain Bill" Fisher walked up to the car and, addressing Johnson, said: "You tell them when they get here that Tabert, if you know what's good for you."

While he was addressing the former convict, eight men with pistols protruding from their belts stepped up behind the spokesman. Johnson did not reply and appeared frightened.

Representative Kennery ordered the automobile to proceed. Johnson directed the party along a highway, but passed the spot where he had testified before the committee that he helped to bury Tabert. The car was followed by about ten automobiles filled with natives.

Taken Past the Place.
The committee members proceeded about two miles before Johnson covered his wits sufficiently to tell the members that he had taken them past the spot on purpose. The automobile was turned around and proceeded back towards Clara with the other cars following.

Johnson pointed out a small pine grave at half a mile from the main road. The committee left the automobile and started for the grave, approximately thirty men following. Representative Kennery addressed the crowd, saying: "Gentlemen this is an outrage. I shall report this to the governor. I will let the newspapers know all about it, too."

There was no response from any of the crowd but several members of the following party circulated among the crowd and asked those who had pistols to hide them. They also requested that Johnson be allowed to point out the spot where he contended the first burial took place.

Johnson walked in and out of palm-tree thickets, followed by the committee, but after a half hour search he declared he was unable to locate it.

Shakes Hands.
Meanwhile, Representatives Smith and Kennery were shaking hands with members of the informal "reception committee" and there was no further hitch in the proceedings.

The committee then proceeded to the Tabert grave in the Mingo cemetery. It was found just off the road behind a wire fence. Two convicts began digging into the mound. A heavy shower started and the work of exhuming the body was postponed. While waiting for the rain to cease, G. Grimson, assistant attorney general of North Dakota, made an appeal to the committee not to open the coffin until some means of identifying the body could be procured. This, Mr. Grimson said, could only be accomplished by comparing the teeth with a dentist's chart of Tabert's teeth which was on its way from the youth's home in North Dakota.

Grave Is Re-filled.
The committee yielded to Mr. Grimson's request with the understanding that the body would be re-buried. (Continued on Page Three)

"All of the snow has gone except the large snow drifts and the weather during the past week has been ideal for drying the fields. A few farmers who have light land started seeding the latter part of the week. In the eastern half of the county seeding operations will not be general before May 1. Due to the large amount of water, especially in the low spots, it is quite probable that the wheat acreage will be reduced from that of last year. Farmers report an increased flax acreage." Finds Ship But No Trace of Passengers

London, April 26.—A Reuters dispatch from Capetown says that the Portuguese mail steamer Mossamedes, which grounded several days ago at Cape Frio, southwest Africa, has been found abandoned with no sign of the 237 passengers she carried. Thus far, the dispatch adds, no boats have been picked up and there is no indication of the fate of passengers and crew. Owing to the fact that there are no landing places in the neighborhood of Cape Frio and a heavy sea is running today grave anxiety is felt for the safety of the passengers. The passenger list included 29 women and 25 children. Two of them were British and the rest Portuguese.

The Mossamedes, a vessel of 4,615 tons, left Capetown last Friday for the west coast. Just when she went ashore is unknown but she sent out an S. O. S. call for help. The British steamer Port Victor, which was 290 miles away, raced to her assistance, arriving about midnight on Tuesday. The Port Victor found the Mossamedes abandoned.

The British steamer, the dispatch says, still is searching for the boat. If necessary the German steamer Urundi, which is coaling at Walvis, will assist in the search.

G.O.P. LEADERS FEAR NO SPLIT FROM ADDRESS

Profess to Believe that World Court Will Not Affect

MANY SEE PRESIDENT

Introduction of Politics Held Likely to Cause Abandonment of Harding Trip

Washington, April 26.—With the next few days expected to bring a more definite crystallization in Republican ranks on the world court issue the political aspect of President Harding's unequivocal commitment for the proposal of American participation in his New York address today continued to hold the close attention of party leaders.

All shades of reaction to the president's firmly spoken adherence to the proposal were manifested soon after his return to the capital. The preponderance of sentiment among leaders as openly expressed favored the executive's stand and saw little to fear in opposition forces of a party split if the advocacy of American membership in the world court was pursued. There also were suggestions of compromise on the proposals.

In addition to conferences to party leaders here yesterday the president also received expressions on the position he had taken from leading Republicans. While the administration officials generally appeared well satisfied with the support accorded the president on the issue, some of those who talked with President Harding yesterday came away with the impression that the president was entirely assured of the effect the opposition expressed to his return to the capital. The president, they pointed out, has repeatedly emphasized that he wishes to keep politics distinctly in the background during the trip and while tentatively arranging for it has reserved final decision as to whether it would be made until he could feel assured this was possible.

LEGISLATIVE PARTY ANGRY AT ACTIONS

Complain of Attempts at Intimidation when Tabert
Grave Is Visited

TO EXHUME THE BODY

Shower Interrupts Efforts to Take Body from Grave in Convict Camp

RESENTMENT FELT
Tallahassee, Fla., April 26.—Keen resentment was expressed at the state capital today when it became known that an armed crowd had met the committee on its arrival in Clara, ignored the official party and openly threatened the negro witness Johnson, who accompanied the legislative investigation committee, to the scene of Tabert's death. There was seen a possibility in the resentment that the matter would reach the house or senate before the committee could act on itself.

Rep. Kennery regarded the reception accorded the party as "an outrage." He declared he intended to see that a full investigation is made an asserted that charges of intimidation would be preferred against the parties responsible.

Clara, Fla., April 26.—A silent display of firearms greeted the members of the joint legislative committee here on their arrival with Arthur Johnson, former convict, to exhume the body of Martin Tabert, of Munich, N. D., who is alleged to have died of injuries received at the hands of a "whipping boss" in a private convict camp here.

The firearms were strapped to the hips of several shirt-sleeved men, against whom charges of intimidation will be made, it was announced by Representative J. Clay Smith and J. S. Kennery, members of the committee. Johnson, who testified at the legislative committee's hearing that Tabert's body was buried in a spot three miles away from where his grave now stands, appeared to have been the center of interest.

Guide Is Frightened.
The committee arrived here about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Johnson was riding in the front seat of the automobile with the legislators. Without extending any salutations to the committee, "Captain Bill" Fisher walked up to the car and, addressing Johnson, said: "You tell them where you buried Tabert, if you know what's good for you."

While he was addressing the former convict, eight men with pistols protruding from their belts stepped up behind the spokesman. Johnson did not reply and appeared frightened.

Representative Kennery ordered the automobile to proceed. Johnson directed the party along a highway, but passed the spot where he had testified the body was buried. He was followed by about ten automobiles filled with natives.

Taken Past the Place.
The committee members proceeded about two miles before Johnson recovered his wits sufficiently to tell the members that he had taken them past the spot on purpose. The automobile was turned around and proceeded back toward Clara with the other cars following.

Johnson pointed out a small pine grove about half a mile from the main road. The committee left the automobile and started for the grove, approximately thirty men following. Representative Kennery addressed the crowd, saying: "Gentlemen this is an outrage. I shall report this to the governor. I will let the newspapers know all about it, too."

There was no response from any one in the crowd but several members of the following party circulated among the crowd and asked those who had pistols to hide them. They also requested that Johnson be allowed to point out the spot where he contended the first burial took place.

Johnson walked in and out of palmetto thickets, followed by the committee, but after a half hour search he declared he was unable to locate it.

Shakes Hands.
Meantime Representatives Smith and Kennery were shaking hands with members of the informal "reception committee" and there was no further hitch in the proceedings. The committee then proceeded to the Tabert grave in the Mingo cemetery. It was found just off the road behind a wire fence. Two convicts began digging into the mound. A heavy shower started and the work of exhuming the body was postponed. While waiting for the rain to cease, G. Grimson, assistant attorney general of North Dakota, made an appeal to the committee not to open the coffin until some means of identifying the body could be procured. This, Mr. Grimson said could only be accomplished by comparing the teeth with a dentist's chart of Tabert's teeth which was on its way from the youth's home in North Dakota.

Grave Is Re-filled.
The committee yielded to Mr. Grimson's request with the understanding that the body would be re-filled.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction, often at a very rapid rate, and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion should produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of over-stuffiness, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which comes as a result of the loss of your superfluous fat. The medicinal ingredients I employ do not depend for their reducing power upon starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Taking them, they should produce a loss of weight without you doing anything else.

If you are over-stout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

Luther League of Mandan
Plan Interesting Program
For June 1

The Mandan Circuit Young People's Luther League will hold its eighth annual convention and song festival at Mandan beginning Friday evening June 1st to and including Sunday evening June 3rd in the Mandan Lutheran church, Rev. C. J. Kelling, pastor. This circuit organization comprises local societies of young people in Lutheran churches over a territory extending from Driscoll on the east to Beach on the west—including the Northern Pacific branch lines west of the Missouri, a total of about 35 congregations. Delegates, singers and visitors are expected from all these local churches.

The program as outlined by the executive committee begins with an informal reception and program rendered by the local society at Mandan on Friday evening. Saturday forenoon will be largely devoted to business matters and in the afternoon will be read and discussed some papers on interesting and timely topics, interspersed with music and other good entertainment. On Saturday evening will be held a young peoples rally with good addresses and musical numbers of various kinds. On Sunday forenoon a convention will hold divine services with convention sermon by the Rev. J. G. Monson of Bismarck. The session will be held Sunday afternoon with the principal address by Governor R. A. Nestos.

Sunday evening the convention will close with a grand concert given by the joint church choirs and soloists from all over the circuit. All these singers will hold two or more joint rehearsals during the convention and will present a number of extracts of choruses and of the best of Lutheran church music. During the convention papers will be read and discussed on the following subjects: "Church Attendance," "Funds in Religion," "Church Publications," "Evolution," and "The Lutheran Church, its Practice and Policy." The present officers of the circuit league are: President, Rev. Walter T. Gistad of Beach; Vice President, Prof. J. E. Running of Dickinson; Treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Earl of Mandan; Recording Secretary, Mr. Alf O. Nelson of Dunn Center; Corresponding Secretary, Mr. C. N. Liddahl of Bismarck; Musical Director Prof. Herman W. Monson of Bismarck now teaching in Minneapolis.

URGED FORCE CHARGE MADE

Document Introduced in Ruthenburgh Trial at St. Joseph

St. Joseph, Mich., April 26.—A single sentence written by Charles E. Ruthenburgh in an article published in the official organ of the communist party in October, 1921, was resurrected today by the state of Michigan in an effort to prove that Ruthenburgh, charged with advocating criminal syndicalism, actually had counseled use of armed force to overthrow the American government.

The article, titled "Soviet or parliament?" said of the communist plans for seizing power:

"And this includes the use of armed force."

The prosecution brought its case against Ruthenburgh to a close with the reading of his own writings.

Frank P. Walsh, attorney for the defense, opened Ruthenburgh's side by reading depositions taken at Philadelphia and Camden attacking the reputation for truth and veracity of Francis Morrow, state's star witness. Morrow, a department of justice agent, attended the communist convention held near here last summer as a delegate.

An article in the Communist by Robert Minor, which was read in evidence, praised the Herrin, Ill., miners "who don't talk 'mass action' but take their guns and close down the scab mine and paralyze the state machinery by military action."

New Postmaster Assumes Duties

Fargo, April 26.—Hugh C. Corrigan, who received his commission as Fargo postmaster recently, took office this week.

Mr. Corrigan was born on the site of the postoffice 44 years ago. He entered the postal service on July 1, 1899, as a clerk and rose in the service until 12 years ago he was named superintendent of mails, which office he held at the time of his appointment to be postmaster on March 3, 1923.

Accepts College Position in China

Richard B. Falkenstein, son of F. C. Falkenstein of Bottineau, a former resident of Bismarck, who graduated last spring from the North Dakota Agricultural college and who is now an instructor in biology at the University of Minnesota, will sail from Vancouver July 25 for Canton, China, where he will become a member of the faculty of the Canton Christian college.

Mr. Falkenstein spent his Christmas vacation with his aunts, Mrs. J. P. French, H. F. O'Hare, and Mrs. Charles Staley of Bismarck. He was prominent in Y. M. C. A. work at the college during his term there, and was president of the college Y for the years 1921-22. He will receive his A. M. degree from the University of Minnesota in June.

MUST HAVE '23 TAGS BY MAY 1, POLICE ORDER

Traffic Ordinance To Be
Rigidly Enforced This
Year

Motorists must have 1923 license tags by May 1, Chief of Police Martineson said today. Arrests for failure to have tags will follow.

Provisions of Bismarck's traffic ordinance were pointed out today by Chief Martineson. He also added a warning against children playing baseball in the streets. For the safety of the children, the practice will be prohibited, he said.

The speed limit is 20 miles an hour, except when approaching a crossing or intersecting highway it shall not be more than 12 miles an hour.

Autos must have brakes so the machine can be stopped in 50 feet when traveling 20 miles an hour. Operating an auto while intoxicated is prohibited.

Within the congested district autos shall not be stopped unless the right side of the vehicle is within one foot of the curb of the street, except on established, cab, hack or truck stands.

No vehicle shall be propelled backward except in emergency, or in getting away from the curb.

No person under the age of 16 shall operate a motor vehicle on the streets.

Autos must have mufflers. Lamps must be lighted between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise.

Signs of intention to turn must be made with arms at intersections. No auto shall be parked in the congested district more than 12 hours.

No person shall play on the streets or alleys in congested district.

No person shall drive an auto without permission of the owner. Autos must stop at approach of fire apparatus or ambulance answering emergency call.

No auto shall be parked within 25 feet of an entrance to a theatre or public building, or within that distance of a fire hydrant.

These are highlights of the city's traffic ordinance, which the police department says will be enforced rigidly.

TAX PAYMENTS ARE BETTER

Grand Forks, April 26.—Taxpayers of Grand Forks county were more prompt in payment of taxes during the first three months of 1923 than during the same period of 1922, according to a comparative report of the tax collections from the period from January 1 to April 1 of each year, as compiled by Charles Allen, county treasurer.

The reason given for the improvement is that people generally are adjusting themselves to the changed financial conditions that have existed since the world war, and are now reaching a point where they make more ample provision for taxes and expenses generally than during the past two or three years. The improvement holds good on both city property and farm lands with one exception, that of indemnity hail insurance, on which collections for the last three months were slightly lower than a year ago.

RUGBY TAXES PUT TOO HIGH

The North Dakota Tax Payers' association, in a table on school taxes given to the press about two weeks ago, erroneously placed the tax rate of the town of Rugby higher than it is. The school tax was shown as 63.7, while it is 33.4. The total tax was shown as 94, while it is 63.7. F. W. McRoberts, secretary of the association, states the association desires to have the correction given to the public, so that no injury may be done Rugby.

"EXTRACT" SALE ATTACKED
McLaughlin, S. D., April 25.—Ed. Gallup, agent for a certain line of flavoring extracts and cooking supplies, is under arrest at Fort Yates on charges of having furnished lemon extract with a high alcoholic content to Jesse Graybear, an Indian. He will come up for trial at the next term of the district court and is out on $500 bail. Gallup will fight charges that he furnished the extract for "drinking" purposes and would make a test case of "extract sales."

NO SURVIVORS OF CUSTER MASSACRE, SAYS BISMARCK MAN, REFUTING STORY

Editor Tribune:

In recent numbers of the Fargo Forum and the Bismarck Tribune, the following appeared in the Associated Press reports of said papers: "For nearly half a century a controversy has raged, whether there was a survivor of Custer's valiant cavalry. The controversy is settled. Uncle Sam has found a survivor—Shuh-shuh-shuh, better known as Curly, a Crow Indian scout now on the pension list."

"More than 300 were wiped out on Custer's side. Curly, the only survivor, escaped by mingling with the attacking Indians until he was able to slip away."

There were no survivors of the Custer tragedy, except a horse found on the battle field two days later by Captain Nowlan who recognized the horse as Camanche, owned by Capt. Keogh who was killed with Custer's battalion. Curly was never in the fight, he hid in a ravine and watched the fight until the soldiers were all killed. He stole away after dark, and two days later on the morning of June 27th he found the steamer Far West at the mouth of the Little

Big Horn River, and by means of the sign language he told the men on board the Far West of the disaster which befell Custer and his battalion. Later when an interpreter was procured Curly told a cock and bull story about picking up two Sioux blankets during the fight that he went to Custer and told him to throw one of the blankets over his head and that he would help him to escape. This story of Curly's was published over 46 years ago in General Custer's memoirs, published by Sheldon and Co., of New York. No one took any stock in Curly's story for the reason that any one who is acquainted with the way the Sioux Indians fought in those days, know that they were stripped to the skin, with only a breech cloth, and they did not have any blankets around them on that hot day of June 25, 1876, and there were no blankets on the battle field for Curly to pick up if he had been there. Another thing Curly never knew nor had ever seen Custer until about three days before the battle. A number of years after the battle Curly made a true statement which was published in the June 1916 number of the Teepee Book, published at Sheridan, Wyoming. Curly says in this statement: "I was a young fellow, I was only sixteen or seventeen and didn't know much about fighting at that time. If I had been older when they had the war I might have done something, and if I had been older I wouldn't have run off. After I got off the high hill, I rode where the steamboat was." Before Custer left the mouth of the Rosebud River on June 22, 1876, Lieutenant Bradley who had charge of the Crow Indians scouts, selected six of his Crow scouts and turned them over to General Custer. Harry Moccasin one of the Crow scouts afterwards made a statement which was published in the Teepee Book. He said: "Custer said you go and find that village. I went to a butte on the head of Reno Creek from where I could see the village. I went and reported the Camp to Custer. He asked if any were running away from the Camp, I said no. When we separated Half Yellow Face and White Swan, were ordered to go with Reno, Goss-ahead, White Man, Runs him, Curly and myself, were ordered with Custer. From the high point north of where Reno later entrenched we could see the village and could see Reno fighting. We four scouts turned and charged north to where Custer was headed for, and we saw no more of Curly after that. I don't know where he went. Custer told Mitch Bouyer, the guide, to tell us to go back to the pack train which we did." From where the Crow scouts left Custer and to the point where Custer was killed was over three miles. As stated Curly never went into the battle, and he was no more of a survivor than the other three Crow scouts who were nearer the battle field than Curly was, and these three scouts have never claimed to be survivors of the Custer battle. As one writer aptly states it, "It is the accounts of sole survivors of Custer's command that have given writers the greater amount of misinformation subsequently published as historical truths. Sole survivors have been plentiful, they have cropped up in every portion of the country, lived for a time as the hero of the hour, and have inevitably passed into oblivion." Curly no doubt received his pension for being a scout for the government during the years 1876 and 1877, and not on account of being an alleged sole survivor of the Custer battle.

NEW INTEREST IN SCHOOLS

Patrons Cooperating, Report of Miss Palmer

An awakened interest in schools is being manifested by the patrons, according to Miss Bertha Palmer, assistant state superintendent, who has returned from a trip into western North Dakota.

Closer co-operation between patrons and school authorities and teachers is seen as a beneficial result by Miss Palmer, who made this the subject of several addresses.

A hall was crowded at a Parent-Teachers' association meeting at Bismarck, Bowman county, Miss Palmer said. The president of the school board explained the method of handling finances. Large numbers also were present at Parent-Teachers' meetings at Bowman, Seranton and the Sullywater Consolidated school north of Seranton. Much interest in schools also was manifested at a women's club meeting in Cassin, and at Marmarth, Slope county.

The tax limitation law of the legislature has caused serious study of school finances by both school officers and patrons, Miss Palmer said. She reported one of the subjects brought up by officers was methods of eliminating school work to keep the district within the limitation law, without sacrificing efficiency.

Pitching Worries Manager Bush

By Billy Evans

Add another good right-hander to my pitching staff and the club will make plenty of trouble this summer."

There is a few words you have the expert opinion of Donnie Bush, who makes his major league debut as manager of the Washington Nationals this year.

"When I say another good right-hander, I mean a pitcher who will come close to winning 20 ball games," continued the diminutive leader.

"A lot of the wise guys told me that Allan Russell was through. He never looked that way when I hit against him. He reported in fine shape, is perhaps the furthest advanced of any of my pitchers and will disappoint me unless he turns in many a good game for Washington."

"The Washington infield compares favorably with any other combination in the majors. Judge at first, Harris at second and Peck at short are hard to beat."

"Third base looked like the big problem, but since looking over my material, I am not worrying about it. I have Conroy of Minneapolis, Bluege, who was with us the greater part of last year, Joe Evans, secured from Cleveland, and Lamotte, who also is a holdover."

"Since I will probably figure on Evans more for outfield work, Conroy, because of his experience, has the best chance to start at third base. However, anything can happen between now and the

"The late spring will cause many farmers to reduce their acreages of March wheat and a shortage of help will further reduce this acreage. A few farmers began seeding April 16 and 17 and seeding was general April 23 after a delay caused by snow the latter part of the week. Increases in the acreage of pasture crops are indicated by the calls for sweet clover seed. Rye seems to be in good condition but no growth has started in the alfalfa and sweet clover fields."—R. S. Goodhue, Jamestown.

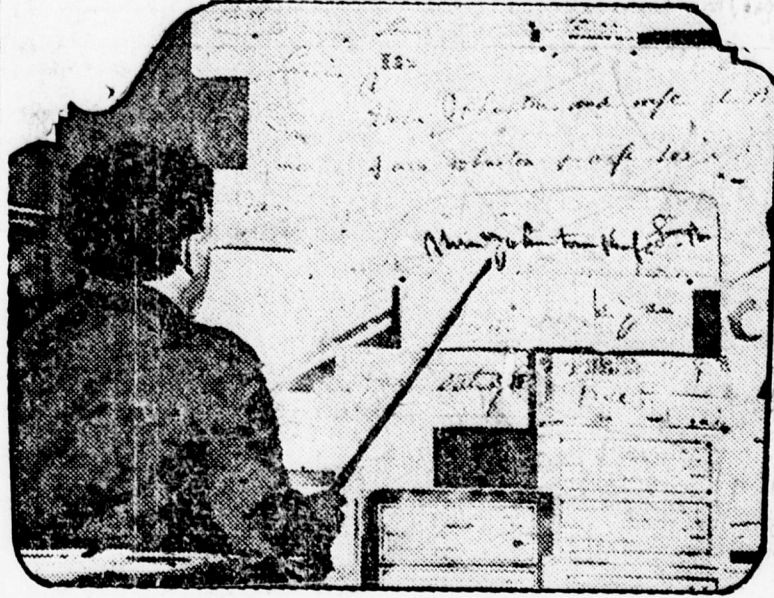

Eddy.
"A few teams have been working in the fields, but in general there is too much moisture to carry on field work. Warm weather has helped rye. A drizzling rain occurred Friday with cooler weather."—A. C. Peterson, New Rockford.

McLean.
"A few farmers started seeding Monday in the southern part of the county and seeding was quite general Thursday. Warm weather prevailed the first part of the week with frosty nights the latter part. Sweet clover is beginning to show up. Gopher poisoning has been mixed to be used in campaigns in six townships in the county."—A. L. Norling, Washburn.

Burke.
"Fields are very wet with more moisture in the ground than has been the case for years. If the weather stays clear, seeding will probably start April 25. A reduction in the wheat acreage with increases in the flax and corn will probably result from the late spring. Weather was clear during the week with a rain Thursday night. Alfalfa and sweet clover came through the winter in good condition."

Granville, N. D., April 26.—Mrs. Ursula Smith, divorced wife of John R. Smith, was bound over for trial on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of her former husband, at the conclusion of her preliminary hearing here yesterday.

Defense counsel made an effort to establish an alibi when Mrs. C. R. It is expected her trial will be held before December.

"I am seventy-two years old, but Tan-lac has fixed me up so fine I believe I could get busy with my trowel and lay brick as well as I ever did," recently stated Frank Berg, well-known resident of Parnell, Missouri.

"Before taking Tan-lac, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, dizziness, nervousness and sleeplessness was making life miserable for me and I was all run-down."

"But the Tan-lac treatment just tore down the old wall between me and good health and I'm mighty glad my wife is a good cook, for I have a rousing appetite now. My nerves have steadied down, too, and I'm sleeping and feeling fine. It's a pleasure to tell folks how good Tan-lac is."

Pitching Worries Manager Bush

By Billy Evans

"Add another good right-hander to my pitching staff and the club will make plenty of trouble this summer."

"There in a few words you have the expert opinion of Donie Bush, who makes his major league debut as manager of the Washington Nationals this year.

"When I say another good right-hander, I mean a pitcher who will come close to winning 20 ball games," continued the diminutive leader.

"I refuse to predict where we will finish, but I am willing to go on record that we will win more ball games than we did last season."

The Nationals finished sixth last year, winning 69 and losing 85 for a percentage of .448.

"What about the deal you made with Boston?"

Ruel Will Help Nationals.
"It is going to strengthen the Nationals a lot. Ruel will help my ball club in many ways. He has the experience, handles his pitchers well, and is the peppery style player that always makes a hit with me. With Ruel and Gharitty and some likely looking youngsters I am not worrying about the catching."

"A lot of the wise guys told me that Allan Russell was through. He never looked that way when I hit against him. He reported in fine shape, is perhaps the farthest advanced of any of my pitchers and will disappoint me unless he turns in many a good game for Washington."

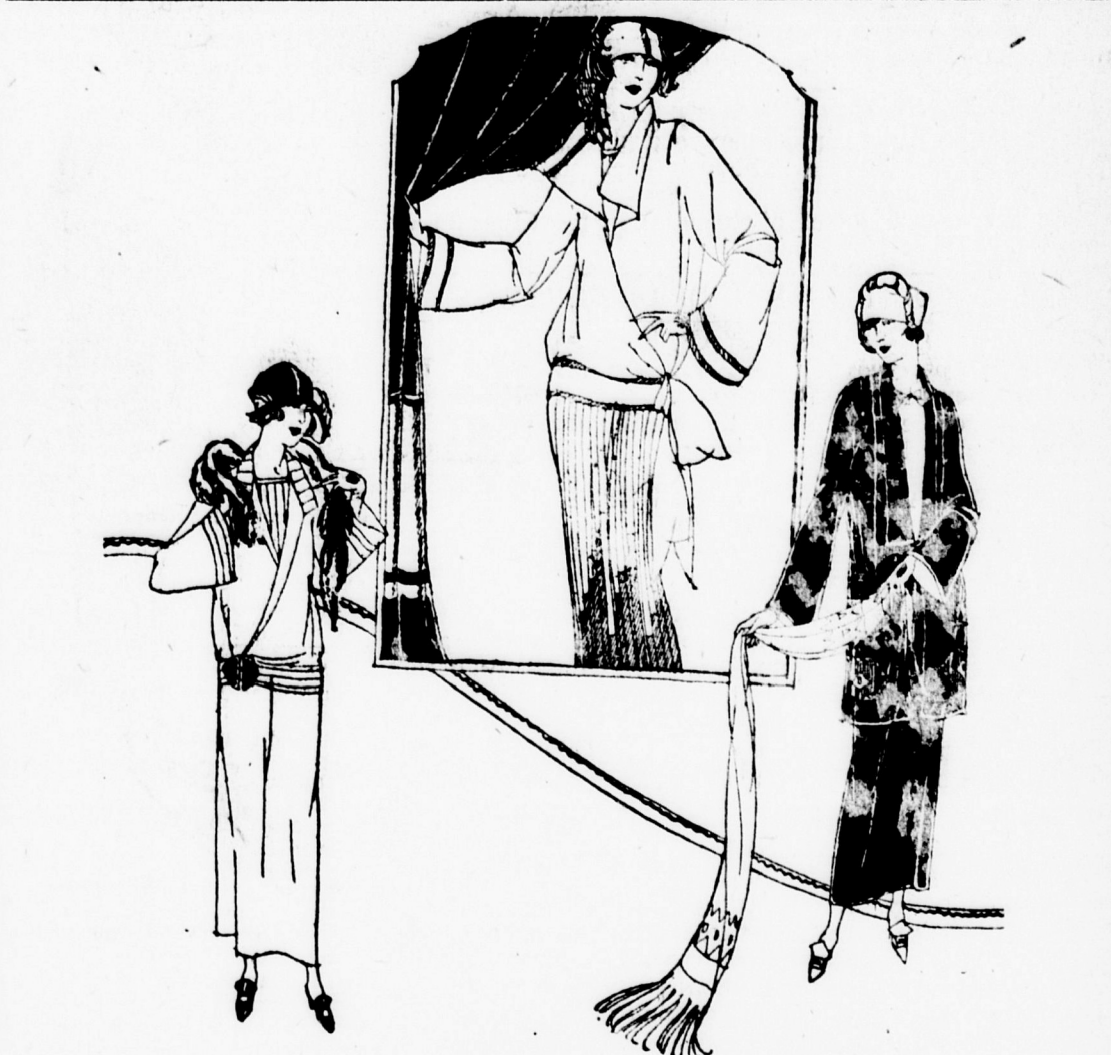

"The Washington infield compares favorably with any other combination in the majors. Judge at first, Harris at second and Peck at short are hard to beat."

Problem at Third Base
"Third base looked like the big problem, but since looking over my material, I am not worrying about it. I have Conroy of Minneapolis, Bluege, who was with us the greater part of last year, Joe Evans, secured from Cleveland, and Lamotte, who also is a holdover."

"Since I will probably figure on Evans more for outfield work, Conroy, because of his experience, has the best chance to start at third base. However, anything can happen between now and the

URGED FORCE CHARGE MADE

Document Introduced in Ruthenburgh Trial at St. Joseph

St. Joseph, Mo., April 26.—A single sentence written by Charles E. Ruthenburgh in an article published in the official organ of the communist party in October, 1921, was resurrected today by the state of Michigan in an effort to prove that Ruthenburgh, charged with advocating criminal syndicalism, actually had conceived of use of armed force to overthrow the American government. The article, titled "Soviet or parliament?" and of the communist plans for seizing power. "And this includes the use of armed force." The prosecution brought its case against Ruthenburgh to a close with the reading of his own writings. Frank P. Walsh, attorney for the defense, opened Ruthenburgh's side by reading depositions taken at Philadelphia and Camden attacking the reputation for truth and veracity of Francis Morrow, state's star witness. Morrow, a department of justice agent, attended the communist convention held near here last summer as a delegate. An article in the Communist by Robert Minor, which was read in evidence, praised the Herrin, Ill., miners "who don't talk mass action" but take their guns and close down the scab mine and paralyze the state machinery by military action."

MUST HAVE '23 TAGS BY MAY 1, POLICE ORDER

Traffic Ordinance To Be
Rigidly Enforced This

Motorists must have 1923 license tags by May 1, Chief of Police Martinson said today. Arrests for failure to have tags will follow. Provisions of Bismarck's traffic ordinance were pointed out today by Chief Martinson. He also added a warning against children playing baseball in the streets. "For the safety of the children, the practice will be prohibited, he said. The speed limit is 20 miles an hour, except when approaching a crossing or intersecting highway it shall not be more than 12 miles an hour.

Autos must have brakes on the machine can be stopped in 50 feet when traveling 20 miles an hour. Operating an auto while intoxicated is prohibited. Within the congested district autos shall not be stopped unless the right side of the vehicle is within one foot of the curb of the street, except on established, cab, hack or truck stands. No vehicle shall be propelled backward except in emergency, or in getting away from the curb. No person under the age of 16 shall operate a motor vehicle on the streets. Autos must have mufflers. Lamps must be lighted between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise. Signs of intention to turn must be made with arms at intersections. No person shall drive an auto without permission of the owner. Autos must stop at approach of fire apparatus or ambulance answering emergency call. No auto shall be parked within 25 feet of a entrance to a theatre or public building, or within that distance of a fire hydrant. These are highlights of the city's traffic ordinance, which the police department says will be enforced rigidly.

NO SURVIVORS OF CUSTER MASSACRE, SAYS BISMARCK MAN, REFUTING STORY

Editor Tribune. In recent numbers of the Tarso Forum and the Bismarck Tribune, the following appeared in the Associated Press reports of said paper: "For nearly half a century a controversy has raged, whether there was a survivor of Custer's valiant cavalry. The controversy is settled. Uncle Sam has found a survivor—Shah Shee ahsh, better known as Curly, a Crow Indian scout now on the pension list. "More than 200 were wiped out on Custer's side. Curly, the only survivor escaped by mingling with the attacking Indians until he was able to slip away." There were no survivors of the Custer tragedy, except a horse found on the battle field two days later by Captain Nowlan who recognized the horse as Camanche, owned by Capt. Keogh who was killed with Custer's battalion. Curly was never in the fight he hid in a ravine and watched the fight until the soldiers were all killed. He stole away after dark, and two days later on the morning of June 27th he found the steamer Far West at the mouth of the Little published in the June 1916 number of the Teepee Book, published at Sheridan, Wyoming. Curly says in this statement "I was a young fellow, I was only sixteen or seventeen and didn't know much about fighting at that time. If I had been older when they had the war I might have done something, and if I had been older I wouldn't have run off. After I got off the high hill, I rode where the steamboat was. Before Custer left the mouth of the Rosebud River on June 22, 1876, Lieutenant Bradley who had charge of the Crow Indians scouts, selected six of his Crow scouts, and turned them over to General Custer. Hurry Moccasin, one of the Crow scouts afterwards made a statement which was published in the Teepee Book. He said: "Custer said you go and find that village. I went to a butte on the head of Reno Creek from where I could see the village. I went and reported the Camp to Custer. He asked if any were running away from the Camp, I said no. When we separated Half Yellow Face and White Swan, were ordered to go with Reno, Goes-ahead, White Man, Runs him, Curly and myself, were ordered with Custer. From the high point north of where Reno later entrenched we could see the village and could see Reno fighting. We four scouts turned and charged north to where Custer was headed for, and we saw no more of Curly after that. I don't know where he went. Custer told Mitch Bouyer, the guide, to tell us to go back to the pack train which we did." From where the Crow scouts left Custer and to the point where Custer was killed was over three miles. As stated Curly never went into the battle, and he was no more of a survivor than the other three Crow scouts who were nearer the battle field than Curly was, and these three scouts have never claimed to be survivors of the Custer battle. As one writer aptly states it, "It is the accounts of sole survivors of Custer's command that have given writers the greater amount of misinformation subsequently published as historical truths. Sole survivors have been plentiful, they have cropped up in every portion of the country, lived for a time as the hero of the hour, and have inevitably passed into oblivion." Curly no doubt received his pension for being a scout for the government during the years 1876 and 1877, and not on account of being an alleged sole survivor of the Custer battle. Yours truly, W. A. FALCONER.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

HONK! HONK!

Henry Ford breaks his record again—turns out 37,793 passenger cars and trucks in one week. All these are for sale in our country. The figure does not include production of Ford's plants in Canada and abroad. Nor does it include cars for export.

Sixty-three hundred machines a day! Thirteen a minute, on the basis of an eight-hour day!

From the first of the year to April 1, American factories made 867,628 passenger cars and trucks.

The auto industry is estimating that all factories this year will manufacture between three and four million cars. Over 11 million private motor cars and nearly a million and a half trucks and commercial cars are now in service.

Experts say that the "saturation point" of the auto in America will be 20 million machines. That is the potential market ahead of the makers, scheduled to be reached in 1930. Twenty million cars will mean one for every six Americans. By crowding, the whole nation will be able to go motoring at the same time.

Whether auto registrations will ever exceed 20 millions in our country will depend on what happens to average prosperity, also on how quickly the inventors perfect inexpensive fool-proof airplanes that will take us off the road and into the air.

Sky in the future will be literally black with airplanes.

Auto makers at present are handicapped by shortages of various materials, especially plate glass. The plate glass famine is due to the rapidly increasing popularity of the closed car, which unquestionably will be the car of the future. About half the people who are in the market for new cars want the closed models. Ford this year will make 500,000 closed cars.

"Keep out the rain" is the big reason.

On the other hand, the closed car also keeps out the fresh air, for the owner develops a tendency to lower the windows just enough to keep ventilation below the reeking point. Better for the health in the old days when oxygen rushed in at the car's open sides or around the curtains.

Maybe, though, the closed car is sent along to get us gradually used to the closed compartments that will be necessary in fast-flying airplanes of the future.

YANKEE

Germany claims she has paid to the allies cash, lands, ships and materials worth 20 billion dollars. If France loses out in the Ruhr—goodby further indemnity payments. It's probably an even bet that France has moved her frontier to the Rhine for good unless a German army drives her back.

Twenty billion dollars is a big sum. Yet it's only half of the total value of American manufactured goods in 1921, the census bureau reports. Blucher, visiting England after the Battle of Waterloo, was asked his opinion of London. He smirked his lips and said: "What a magnificent city to loot!" The same is true of our nation—if any one had the chance to loot, which is an improbability.

MONEY

Have you nearly twice as much money in the bank as you had in 1914? The average American has. Savings deposits in 1913 totaled 7000 million dollars. Now the figure is close to 14,000 millions.

Some of the war-boom money was salted away by the plain people. How much? Apparently, at least 7000 millions. However, the buying power of the dollar has been practically cut in two, so in effect we're no better off than we were before the war—except for the wise who will keep their savings until low prices again bring the dollar's buying power to par—$1 now will equal $2 later, in buying power.

ALCOHOL

In 1921, when genuine liquor was easier to get than now, only 1432 Americans were legitimately engaged in manufacturing alcohol and medicinal hooch, compared with 8322 in 1914, says a census report. And the value of their products in 1921 decreased nearly six-sevenths compared with 1914, despite higher prices.

Opinions vary as to the amount of alcohol made illicitly in recent years by bootleggers. But drinking by the public is on the wane, despite a few individuals who are getting as much as when the bartender apologized if his Old Crow was less than seven years old.

OVERHEAD

Seven big clay "dud" bombs (for practice, not loaded with explosives) accidentally fell out of airplanes and demolish a drugstore and bakery in San Antonio. This gives you a glimpse of future dangers. The airplane will free us from auto hazards—but the danger will merely be transferred to the air.

Still very unsafe for the fliers themselves. Eight army aviators out of every 100 are killed each year and two crippled so they can never fly again. Inventors are paying too much attention to airplane speed, not enough to safety.

G. O. P.

Six cities seek the G. O. P. national convention in 1924. The cities are Chicago, Cleveland, Kansas City, San Francisco, Buffalo and Washington. Place your bets on Cleveland, in the "doubtful" state.

As for the next presidential election, its result will depend at least half on whether we have national prosperity or hard times when the people vote. Nothing talks quite as convincingly as money, especially in politics.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are printed here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

AN OVERWORKED WORD

As a charter member of the Society for the Protection of Overworked Words, "The Record" rises to protest against the cruelty and unthinking advertisement, press agent, and newspaper editors upon the ever-willing but constantly overtaxed prefix "super," which is habitually pressed into arduous service at sunrise and compelled to remain on duty, with no intermission for meals, until long after midnight.

In earlier days super was permanently attached to and practically incorporated in a number of useful terms, largely of Latin origin, such as superfluous, superstitious, supercilious, supererogatory, etc., all of which held union cards and could not be impugned upon by slave-driving employers. In such sturdy company super was able to work regularly, having reasonable hours and suitable periods of rest, and was never heard to make complaint of physical exhaustion. Not very many years ago, however, the term "super-man" sprang suddenly into popularity, and the ground was laid for putting super to work with unlimited numbers of ill-sorted companions, with consequences that soon became evident in the public prints.

The advertising representatives of amusement enterprises had long been looking for means of expressing adequately the true merit of the entertainments they were exploiting, and they found it in super. So we began to hear less of super behind the scenes and more of those in front. We were introduced to super-productions, staged by super-geniuses and portrayed by super-actors and super-actresses (often at unmentioned super-prices). Super-startling, super-thrilling, super-satisfying movies are screened now for our edification. When the retail dealers saw super working so hard in the theatrical business they gave him jobs in the store ads and put on super-burgains, and super-opportunities and super-reductions of super-quality wares.

Enough is plenty. We are even willing to join in a movement to pension super for life. Philadelphia Record.

AMERICAN LITERATURE

It is a most conservative estimate to say that nine-tenths of our university teachers are more competent to discuss the literature of England than the literature of America; and the actual quantity—not to speak of the quality of instruction provided in the higher study of our own literature is relatively insignificant. This is obviously not a happy state of affairs for native letters; yet this condition is the natural consequence of careless acquiescence in the contention that American must always be a part of English literature. It is perhaps wiser to accept this contention than to listen to those revolutionaries who wish to cut themselves off without a shilling of their inheritance, and who sternly bid our English ancestors never darken our doors again. But our national literature will never hold its due place nor perform its proper work in our consciousness until we reverse the orthodox contention and declare, instead, that the older English literature must forever be a part of American literature.—Stuart P. Sherman in the Yale Review.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Nancy flew away in her airplane to look for Nick.

She flew right over Bing-Bang Land and all the Bing-Bang Landers cried out: "There goes another of those queer birds we saw a little while ago."

Soon she came to the place where the tin soldier camp was. She remembered what the Tinker Man had told her and flew very high so that none of them could shoot at her.

When she was right over the army, she reached for a gas bomb and dropped it. It was only a sleeping gas bomb really.

Then she leaned out and watched to see what would happen.

Fidd!

She heard the bomb hit the ground and burst.

Almost instantly General Hobbledoop fell over on the ground, snoring.

Then Colonel Butter Cup fell over, and Major Straight Back, and Captain Bow Legs and Lieutenant Shiny Boots all fell over, sound asleep.

Then the private soldiers and machine gunners and cavalry dropped over.

"Now is my chance!" said Nancy to herself.

So she brought her airplane down to the ground and tiptoed softly over to the prison.

There was Nick looking out between the bars of the window.

"Quick!" he cried when he saw her. "The guard there has the key. It's in his belt."

Nancy carefully took the key from the sleeping soldier and unlocked the door.

Not only Nick but all the wooden soldier prisoners were free at last.

"Oh, thank you!" they said. "We're ever so much obliged."

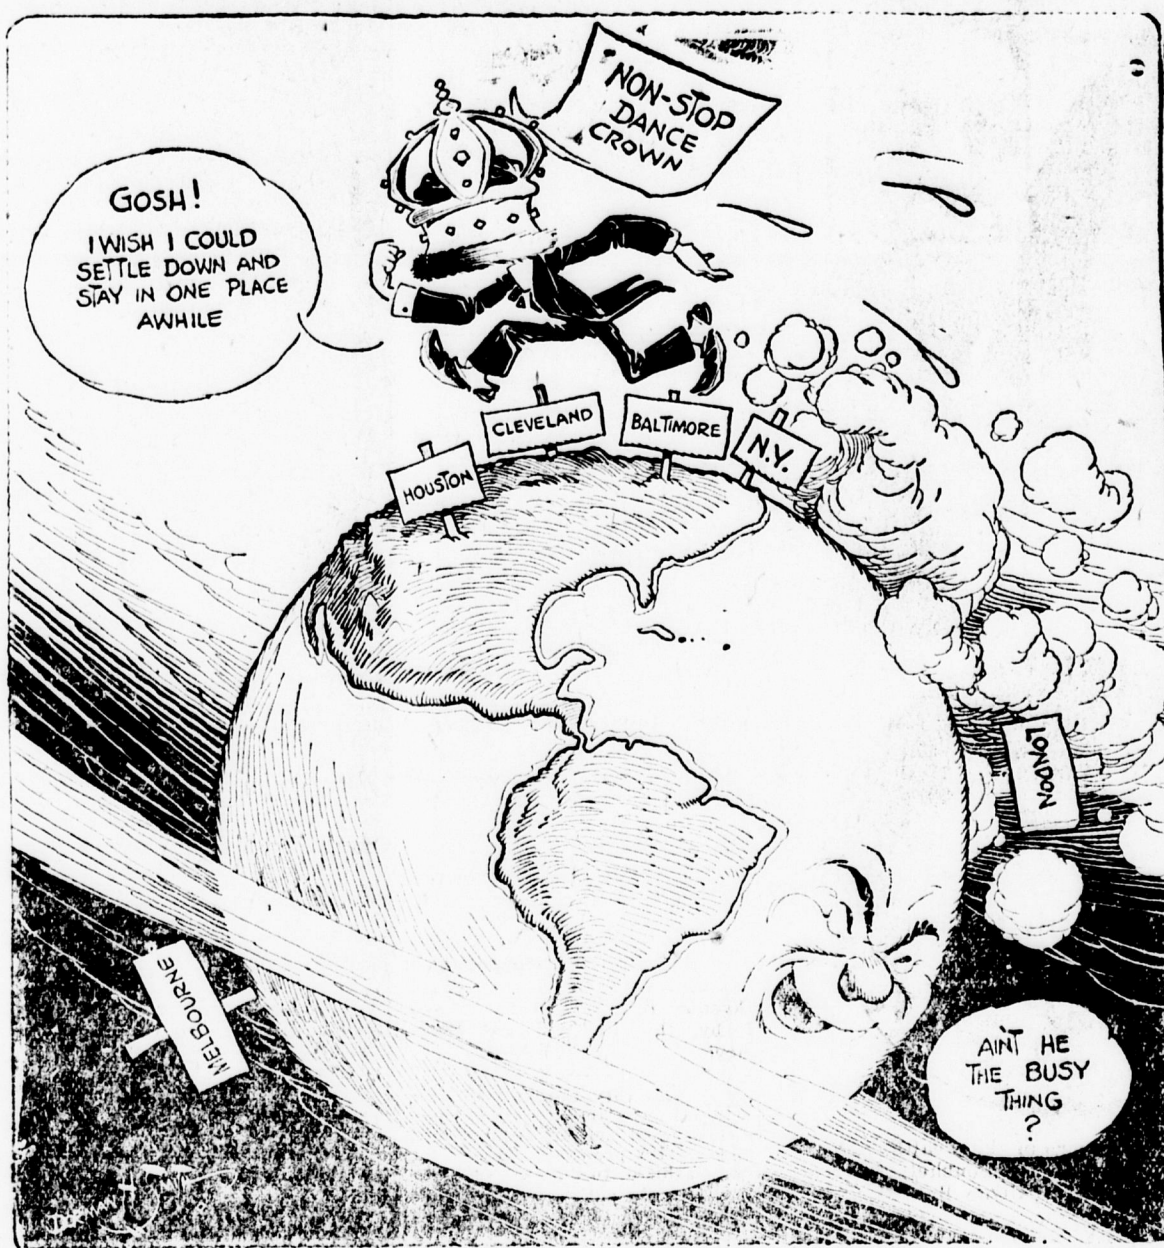

And they marched back to their own army.

Nancy and Nick got into Nancy's airplane and sailed away.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER.

I am sitting here in my room at the hotel writing and, also, I am finding out that the first letter I am writing to be placed in that little secret drawer, where no one can see, is a letter which chronicles the greatest unhappiness of my life.

Jack has gone out and slammed the door with reverberations that were absolutely profane. We have been married less than a month and it has come to this. We have had a real quarrel and over such a little thing. I am quite sure I am not to blame, for surely husband and wife should have no secrets from each other.

I know that I would not care, in fact, I would be very glad, if Jack took enough interest in my friends—all of whom seem to bore him more or less to read the letters from them to me. He could open them when and how he pleased and yet he said to me this morning that he considered anyone who would open another's letter capable of almost any underhanded thing. Of course, Jack must understand that I would not read one of his letters without telling him I had read it. If I did that I would feel I would merit his accusation.

When we went down to breakfast this morning, Jack was busy at the news stand buying morning papers and cigarettes. I walked over to the desk, for I was expecting a letter from home. Running through them hastily, I found two or three of them for me, but I was not much interested in them.

I saw one addressed to Jack which had Sydney Carton's business address in the corner. Naturally I thought he was writing us in answer to my postal card and without the slightest hesitancy I tore it open. Before I could take the note from the envelope Jack came over to where I was standing.

"Any letters for me?" he asked. "We have a letter from Sydney Carton," I answered.

"No, it is addressed to you," Jack reached over quickly, jerked the letter out of my hand and said in a rough tone of voice, "Leslie, I will read my own letters."

If he had struck me I could not have been more surprised and hurt. But he did not even stop to see how his cruelty had affected me. Instead he walked rapidly toward the dining-room evidently not caring whether I followed or not. I had all I could do to keep from turning and going back to our rooms. I felt the eyes of that supercilious hotel clerk boring into the back of my head. The satirical import of his smile brought the blood to my face.

I followed Jack into the dining-room, however. My husband did not even rise from his seat at the table when I arrived there. He had a peculiar hard gray look upon his face that I had never seen upon it before. It made me feel as though I was looking into the face of a stranger. In a moment all our intimacy, all our communion of spirit seemed to have vanished. I almost felt that great primal difference which leads to the war of the sexes.

Wealth and Trouble—Candler and His Son Have Plenty—of Both

Principal in the two suits involving members of the wealthy Candler family of Atlanta. Top row, Mrs. Onozima De Bouchel and Asa Candler. Below, Candler's son, Walter, and Mrs. Clyde Byfield, suing him for $100,000.

By NEA Service

Atlanta, Ga., April 26.—Have riches and social prominence brought only sorrow and scandal to Asa G. Candler, Sr. and his favorite son, Walter?

Father and son, the former the wealthiest citizen of the south, and the latter a millionaire bank director, are facing suits brought by women.

The father must defend a suit for $500,000 brought by Mrs. Onozima DeBouchel, famous New Orleans beauty, for breach of promise, while Walter is the defendant in a suit for $100,000 brought by Mrs. Clyde Byfield, young Atlanta matron, who alleges in her formal complaint Walter attacked her while she and her husband were his guests on a trip to Europe.

Both suits, shortly will come to trial in Atlanta. Southern society is sitting on the edge of its upholstered chair waiting for them to start. The father's trial will be in the United States court, while the son's will take place in the state court.

Breach Engagement
Candler, Sr., in his reply to the suit admitted he promised to wed Mrs. DeBouchel, but declared he suddenly broke the wedding engagement when accusations were made against her regarding her conduct during a Confederate veterans' reunion several years ago.

Candler met Mrs. DeBouchel at this reunion and, according to Mrs. DeBouchel's petition, wooed her ardently until she promised to become his bride. Mrs. DeBouchel is 74, while Mrs. DeBouchel is much younger.

Mrs. Byfield, in her petition, against Walter Candler, set forth that the attempted attack followed a wine supper on board the steamship Berengaria.

As a counter suit, Walter Candler has started legal action to prevent Clydie Byfield, husband of Mrs. Byfield, who also was a member of the European party, from collecting a note for $25,000 alleged to have been given byfield by Candler in Paris.

Son Claims Blackmail
Candler says it is blackmail. Byfield claims the money was rightfully due him.

A feature of this case is that Mrs. Walter T. Candler, who left for California with her mother and small son simultaneously with the departure of Candler and the Byfields for Europe, has returned to Atlanta, and says she will defend her husband against the attacks of the Byfields.

The suit brought by Mrs. DeBouchel against the aged Atlanta multimillionaire is not the first damage suit he has figured in with women on the opposing side. A few years ago he had Mrs. Margaret Hirsch, a prominent matron of Atlanta, tried on a charge of attempted blackmail, together with "Handsome Bill" Cook, real estate salesman.

Candler also met Mrs. Hirsch at a reunion of Confederate veterans in Atlanta, and at the time was serving as mayor of Atlanta. Mrs. Hirsch and Cook both were found guilty of attempted blackmail, sentenced to jail and fined.

However, in the suit brought by Mrs. DeBouchel, Candler is facing a far different proposition. Wants to 'Clear Name'

Mrs. DeBouchel says she would have been perfectly willing to break the engagement at any time for any good reason whatsoever, but that she intended to make Mr. Candler tell who defamed her character, so that she may have a chance to vindicate her name.

Mrs. DeBouchel, who is reputed to be quite wealthy, says she will not stop her fight until the world knows that the charge is a vicious and untrue one.

And so the drama of the homes of Atlanta's wealthiest citizens.

directly toward the camera, with a roaring prairie fire licking at their heels and the unconscious form of a beautiful girl in their path. Here Carey performs a remarkable feat of horsemanship when he reaches from his galloping horse and snatches beautiful Viola Vale from almost certain death under scores of plunging hoofs. Other spectacular scenes are a terrific wind storm and a gigantic landslide caused by an earth-rocking explosion of dynamite.

Wealth and Trouble—Candler and His Son Have Plenty—of Both

Principals in the two suits involving members of the wealthy Candler family of Atlanta. Top row, Mrs. Onezima De Bouchel and Asa Candler. Below, Candler's son, Walter, and Mrs. Clyde Byfield, suing him for $100,000.

By NEA Service
Atlanta, Ga., April 26.—Have riches and social prominence brought only sorrow and scandal to Asa G. Candler, Sr. and his favorite son, Walter?

Father and son, the former the wealthiest citizen of the south, and the latter a millionaire bank director, are facing suits brought by women.

The father must defend a suit for $500,000 brought by Mrs. Onezima DeBouchel, famous New Orleans beauty, for breach of promise, while Walter is the defendant in a suit for $100,000 brought by Mrs. Clyde Byfield, young Atlanta matron, who alleges in her formal complaint Walter attacked her while she and her husband were his guests on a trip to Europe.

Both suits shortly will come to trial in Atlanta. Southern society is sitting on the edge of its upholstered chair waiting for them to start. The father's trial will be in the United States Court, while the son's will take place in the state court.

Breaks Engagement
Candler, Sr., in his reply to the suit admitted he promised to wed Mrs. DeBouchel, but declared he suddenly broke the wedding engagement when accusations were made against her regarding her conduct during a Confederate veterans' reunion several years ago.

Candler met Mrs. DeBouchel at this reunion and, according to Mrs. DeBouchel's petition, wooed her ardently until she promised to become his bride.

Candler is 74, while Mrs. DeBouchel is much younger. Mrs. Byfield, in her petition, against Walter Candler set forth that the attempted attack followed a wine supper on board the steamship Berengaria.

As a counter suit, Walter Candler has started legal action to prevent Clyde Byfield, husband of Mrs. Byfield, who also was a member of the European party, from collecting a note for $22,500 alleged to have been given Byfield by Candler in Paris.

Son Claims Blackmail
Candler says it is blackmail. Byfield claims the money was rightfully due him.

A feature of this case is that Mrs. Walter T. Candler, who left for California with her mother and small son simultaneously with the departure of Candler and the Byfields for Europe, has returned to Atlanta, and says she will defend her husband against the attacks of the Byfields.

The suit brought by Mrs. DeBouchel against the aged Atlanta multimillionaire is not the first damage suit he has figured in with women on the opposing side.

A few years ago he had Mrs. Margaret Hirsch, a prominent matron of Atlanta, tried on a charge of attempted blackmail, together with "Handsome Bill" Cook, real estate salesman.

Candler also met Mrs. Hirsch at a reunion of Confederate veterans in Atlanta, and at the time was serving as mayor of Atlanta. Mrs. Hirsch and Cook both were found guilty of attempted blackmail, sentenced to jail and fined.

However, in the suit brought by Mrs. DeBouchel, Candler is facing a far different proposition.

Wants to Clear Name
Mrs. DeBouchel says she would have been perfectly willing to break the engagement at any time for any good reason whatsoever, but that she intended to make Mr. Candler tell who defamed her character, so that she may have a chance to vindicate her name.

Mrs. DeBouchel, who is reputed to be quite wealthy, says she will not stop her fight until the world knows that the charge is a vicious and malicious lie.

And so the storm swirls about the homes of Atlanta's wealthiest citizens.

AT THE MOVIES
CAPITOL
Harry Carey, most famous of Western screen stars, will fight and laugh his way across the screen in a new and sizzling screen thriller at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow which marks the first showing here of "Crashin' Thru," which is hailed as the biggest and best picture of Carey's notable career. Bristling with hair-raising thrills, rattling action, rugged drama and that irresistible touch of whimsical Carey humor, "Crashin' Thru" is said to be an afternoon or evening's entertainment par excellence.

One of the most thrilling scenes ever filmed is contained in "Crashin' Thru". It is that in which hundreds of fear-maddened horses stampede directly toward the camera, with a roaring prairie fire licking at their heels and the unconscious form of a beautiful girl in their path. Here Carey performs a remarkable feat of horsemanship when he reaches from his galloping horse and snatches beautiful Vola Vale from almost certain death under scores of plunging hoofs. Other spectacular scenes are a terrific wind storm and a gigantic landslide caused by an earth-rocking explosion of dynamite.

But the spectacular is only part of the appeal of "Crashin' Thru." It is primarily drama staged in the heart of the glowing West, and tells a tale of romance and adventure that is far off the beaten track of most Western subjects.

Billy Evans Says

"What is the most important shot in golf?" Recently I put that question to Jack Hutchison.

"That question is asked me more often than any other," he replied.

"If one aspires to play between 70 and 80, every shot is important. The slightest slip in any department of play will give the score card a black eye.

"I would say that a player must first perfect his driving if he is to get anywhere with his game. By driving I do not mean for distance, rather I have in mind accuracy.

"The desire to drive for distance is a fault that handicaps many golfers. Distance is not everything, accurate driving, that doesn't result in such a long ball, is far more important. I would say that accurate driving was the most important feature of golf play.

"A well placed shot from the tee enables the player to put his second shot on the green, which is greatly desired by every player. Getting on the green in two offers great possibilities.

"It strikes me that a second shot that gets you on the green must be considered more important than the approach putt or mashie-niblick pitch.

"To a great many beginners the pitch over a brook or a trap or bunker is a nightmare. In reality it is an easy shot if the player would just think so. It is the hazard that is uppermost in the mind of the player, which makes the shot hard to accomplish. If the brook or trap wasn't there the player would make the shot in a matter of fact manner and do it perfectly. Such hazards never bother the skilled player.

"A shot putt to win a match with much at stake is far more difficult to the pro player than the pitch over the hazard.

WEATHER OFTEN UPSETS SPORT DOPE

For Instance, High Wind Affects Ed Rommel's Freak Delivery

By Billy Evans

Golf players, like ball players, show to advantage or disadvantage according to the weather conditions that exist.

Take the case of Pitcher Ed Rommel of the Athletics. Rommel is a great pitcher. Any twirler who can win 27 games with a seventh place team must be so classed.

Rommel has nice speed, a good curve, fine change of pace and is a remarkable fielder. When he is pitching a team has live infielders.

However Rommel's most valuable asset is his knuckle ball or finger nail ball, as you will have it. This freak delivery makes Rommel a tough pitcher to beat. The ball comes up in waves and it is almost impossible to time it with any degree of accuracy. Cy Perkins, who catches Rommel, simply aims to get in front of the ball and break it down if he is unable to catch it.

Weather conditions have considerable to do with the effectiveness of his delivery. If the wind is at his back Rommel is practically unbeatable.

However, if the wind is blowing directly at him, it takes part of the wave out of the ball and the delivery is not nearly so puzzling.

Take the spit-ball pitcher and start him on a wet day and he is not nearly so hard to hit as on a dry day. The conditions of the cover, also the grounds, have much to do with success of the spit-ball pitcher.

Seldom does a manager use a spit-ball pitcher on a wet day. If a rain suddenly comes up, the manager invariably has some other twirler warmed up, ready to go to the spit-ball pitcher's relief the moment he starts to lose his stuff.

Ground and weather conditions play as important a part with the golf stars as the diamond celebrities. A star who hits a long ball, but is inclined to be erratic, is always handicapped while playing on a course with narrow fairways. On a course with wide fairways such a player would be a most dangerous contender, while on a course with narrow fairways he is merely an ordinary player.

Some golfers in getting distance hit a rather low ball and rely largely on the roll. If the turf is fast, all is well. Playing on a course that is sandy, which usually means slow, or on a course that has been slowed up by rain, the player who relies on the roll for distance is at a decided disadvantage.

High winds also seriously interfere with the play of many golfers. It is not unusual to count certain players out if a tournament is started with a stiff wind blowing in the face of the players.

In the horse racing game some of the runners are at their best on a sloppy track, others must have it fast to show the way, while some thoroughbreds like any kind of going. That is why form plays such a big part in the selection of the winners in the running game.

There are some golfers, thoroughbreds, who are always in the running, regardless of weather or turf conditions, but a majority of them are subject to the whims of the weather.

Kinks o' the Links

by "PRO"

When playing out of a sand trap, the club head touches the sand on the upward swing. The player goes through with the swing and successfully gets out of the trap. In addressing the ball the sand was not touched with the club.

Is a player penalized a stroke when the club head touches the sand before coming into contact with the ball regardless of the circumstances, or is there a line of discrimination?

The player is penalized a stroke for touching the sand with the club.

Ed Walsh Leads League in Batting Fungoes

ED WALSH HITTING FUNGOES

Ed Walsh, former White Sox pitching star, tried umpiring last year in the American League but failed to make the grade. They do say that Walsh simply couldn't forget that he was once a player, which naturally interfered with his chances.

Next to pitching, Walsh likes to hit fungoes. He holds the record for long-distance fly ball hitting. That will be one of his duties this summer as first assistant to Manager Kid Gleason of the White Sox.

Last year Walsh a number of times, while attired in umpire garb, would spend much of his time before the game hitting fungoes to the ball players. It is needless to say that President Johnson hardly thought that in keeping with the duties of the umpire.

Women Know What They Want ---and Get It

A woman buys many different food products, dozens of fabrics and articles of apparel, shoes, things for the home, toilet preparations—quite probably in a year she makes a thousand purchases. Personally to judge the quality of each, she would need to be a chemist, an engineer, a metallurgist and a good many other things.

So, given the choice, of course she buys the goods she knows in preference to those she does not know. And she is going to have that choice for a good many years. She is boss.

Manufacturers who want to work for her must realize this:—They must put in their application at once; convince her of their intention and ability to give her merchandise of known value; and then live up to the standard.

For she is a just but ruthless boss. She neither forgets nor forgives. She rewards loyal service with loyalty, but her condemnation of broken faith is final.

Her favor is the sunlight of success; her indifference, the outer darkness.

SHARP UPTURN IN LIVERPOOL WHEAT PRICES

Sends Early Bids on Chicago Board of Trade to New High Levels

Chicago, April 26.—Influenced by a sharp upturn in Liverpool quotations all deliveries of wheat here rose to a new high price record for the season. Liverpool advance was met with an unexpected falling off in the volume of shipments from Argentina and to good demand from European continental countries. Opening prices which ranged from 1/4 to 1/2 higher, with May, $1.26 1/2 to $1.26 3/4 and July $1.24 1/2 to $1.25, were followed by material further gains.

Billy Evans Says

"What is the most important shot in golf?"

Recently I put that question to Jack Hutchinson.

"That question is asked me more often than any other," he replied.

"If one aspires to play between 70 and 80, every shot is important. The slightest slip in any department of play will give the score card a black eye."

"I would say that a player must first perfect his driving if he is to get anywhere with his game. By driving I do not mean far distance, rather I have in mind accuracy."

"The desire to drive for distance is a fault that handicaps many golfers. Distance is not everything, accurate driving, that doesn't result in such a long ball, is far more important. I would say that accurate driving was the most important feature of golf play."

"A well placed shot from the tee enables the player to put his second shot on the green, which is greatly desired by every player. Getting on the green in two offers great possibilities."

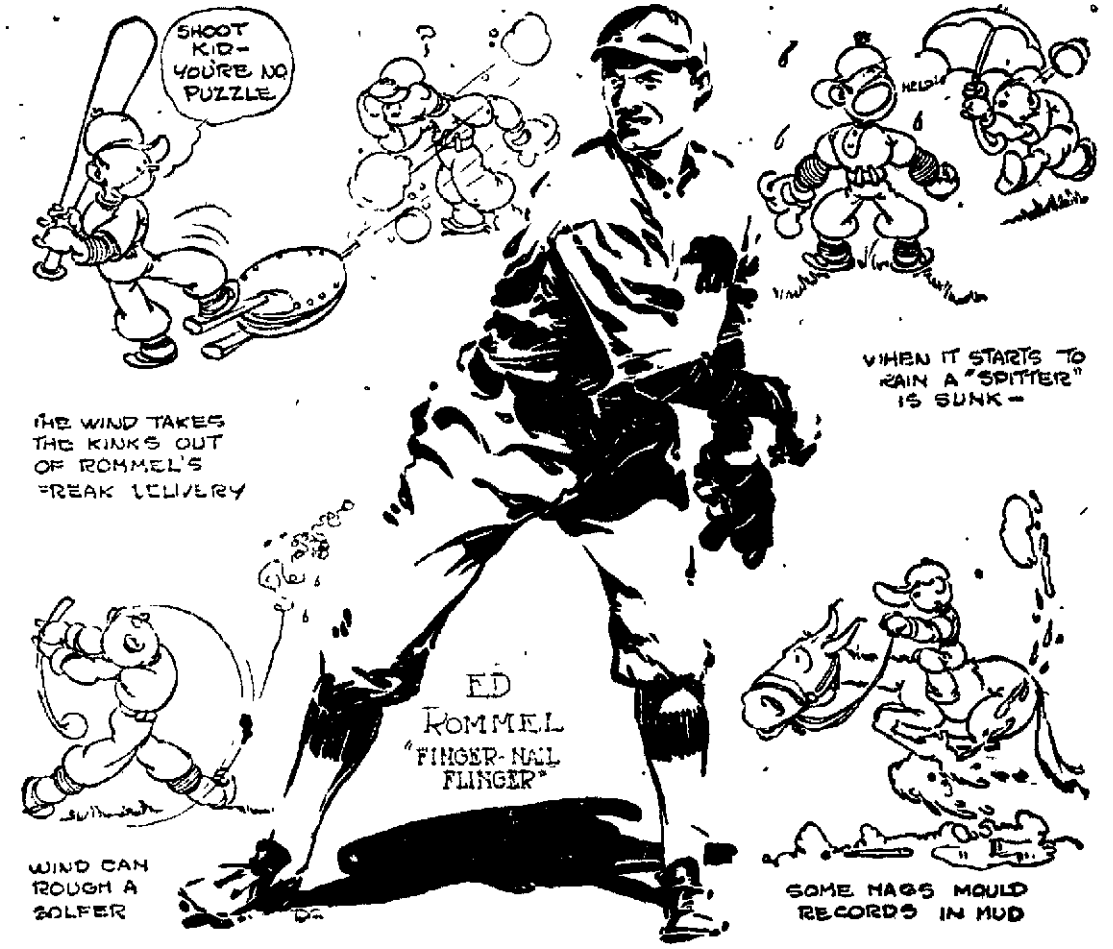

"It strikes me that a second shot that gets you on the green must be considered more important than the approach putt or mashie-niblick pitch."

"To a great many beginners the pitch over a brook or a trap or bunker is a nightmare. In reality it is an easy shot if the player would just think so. It is the hazard that is uppermost in the mind of the player, which makes the shot hard to accomplish. If the brook or trap wasn't there the player would make the shot in a matter of fact manner and do it perfectly. Such hazards never bother the skilled player."

"A shot putt to win a match with much at stake is far more difficult to the pro player than the pitch over the hazard."

WEATHER OFTEN UPSETS SPORT DOPE

For Instance, High Wind Affects Ed Rommel's Freak Delivery

beatable. However, the wind is blowing directly at him, it takes part of the wave out of the ball and the delivery is not nearly so puzzling.

Take the case of Pitcher Ed Rommel of the Athletics. Rommel is a great pitcher. Any twirler who can win 21 games with a seventh-place team must be so classed.

Rommel has nice speed, a good curve, fine change of pace and is a remarkable fielder. When he is pitching a team has five inklings. However, Rommel's most valuable asset is his knuckle ball or finger-nail ball, as you will have it. This freak delivery makes Rommel a tough pitcher to beat. The ball comes up in waves and it is almost impossible to time it with any degree of accuracy. Ty Perkins, who catches Rommel, simply aims to get in front of the ball and break it down if he is unable to catch it.

Wind Bothers Rommel

Weather conditions have considerable to do with the effectiveness of his delivery. If the wind is at his back Rommel is practically unbeatable.

Russie LeRoy, flashy Fargo lightweight, defeated "Red" Blanchard of St. Paul in an eight round semi-win to the Flannagan-O'Dowd fight here last night. LeRoy took a majority of the rounds by fighting Blanchard in his own style, standing up and exchanging wallops. LeRoy made Blanchard back away from him and had him in a bad way four times during the fight.

Kinks o' the Links

by "PRO"

When playing out of a sand trap, the club head touches the sand on the upward swing. The player goes through with the swing and successfully gets out of the trap. In addressing the ball the sand was not touched with the club.

Is a player penalized a stroke when the club head touches the sand before coming into contact with the ball regardless of the circumstances, or is there a kind of discrimination?

The player is penalized a stroke for touching the sand with the club.

Ed Walsh Leads League in Batting Fungoes

Ed Walsh, former White Sox pitching star, tried umpiring last year in the American League but failed to make the grade. They do say that Walsh simply couldn't forget that he was once a player, which very naturally interfered with his chances.

Next to pitching, Walsh likes to hit fungoes. He holds the record for long-distance fly ball hitting. That

Women Know What They Want ---and Get It

A woman buys many different food products, dozens of fabrics and articles of apparel, shoes, things for the home, toilet preparations—quite probably in a year she makes a thousand purchases. Personally to judge the quality of each, she would need to be a chemist, an engineer, a metallurgist and a good many other things.

So, given the choice, of course she buys the goods she knows in preference to those she does not know. And she is going to have that choice for a good many years. She is boss.

Manufacturers who want to work for her must realize this:—They must put in their application at once; convince her of their intention and ability to give her merchandise of known value; and then live up to the standard.

For she is a just but ruthless boss. She neither forgets nor forgives. She rewards loyal service with loyalty, but her condemnation of broken faith is final.

Her favor is the sunlight of success; her indifference, the outer darkness.

SCOUT, LEGION PARTY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Varied Program Is Given with Both Scout Members and Legionnaires Participating

HEAR JUDGE NUESSE

Boy Scout Work Worth While, Members of Legion Are Told in Address

Boy Scouts and members of the American Legion of Bismarck had a good time last night. They met in Legion hall and found both pleasure and information in a two hour and a half meeting, which ended with the serving of refreshments by the Legion Auxiliary. The program was arranged by the local Legion post in accordance with the national policy of the Legion to aid the development of Boy Scout work.

Supreme Court Justice W. L. Nuesse, talking briefly, told the Legion members that he believed the work of the Boy Scouts was worth while, and that it would be well worth while for the Legion to take any consistent steps to aid in the development of the Scout plans. He emphasized that the Boy Scouts were being trained for leadership in affairs, and that they would be called upon to assume that burden within a few years.

After a welcome by Commander Perry Cuddeback, the chairmanship for the evening was turned over to C. H. Russ, Jr. The program began with singing "America."

Walter LeRoy of Troop 6 told the history of the American flag and Roy Kelsen of the same troop explained to the Legion men the meaning of the Scout badge. Mervin Clow of Troop 2 explained the ten different tests and Robert Birdzell spoke upon the history of troop 1 in Bismarck. Boys from Troop 2 gave a demonstration in first aid work and boys from troop 6 in fire-lighting.

Interpreted were numbers by the Legion trio composed of Messrs. Steen, Snyder and Munson. Capt. Herman Broeck gave a demonstration in dismantling and reassembling a Browning automatic rifle. J. J. M. MacLeod, in charge of boys' welfare work, introduced a number of stunt games in which Legion men mingled with the Scouts.

Mr. Russ announced that the Legion would seek to have an impressive observance of Memorial Day in Bismarck, May 30, and invited the Boy Scouts to participate. The Legion would, he said, award an American flag to the troop having the best representation in the parade. He also announced that the Legion would provide Scouts with tickets to the moving picture, "A Man With a Country," which will be shown here in May by the post.

In its meeting earlier in the evening, the Legion Post decided to participate in the support of a central registration bureau to correlate charitable, relief and social activities in the city. It also voted to raise the post's quota of the Legion's $100,000 endowment fund to provide permanently for annual decoration of the graves of 32,000 American soldiers in France.

OAKES CONTEST IS STARTED

Oakes, N. D., April 26.—Contest proceedings were instituted Monday by Byron Gibbs, one of the three candidates for mayor in the city election of April 2, who was defeated by a small margin by Sid Bergenthal, former alderman from the third ward according to the official returns of the canvassing board. Bergenthal qualified and took office on the 17th, and is now acting as mayor.

In his petition to have the result of the election set aside, Gibbs alleges that six teachers in the Oakes city schools voted illegally in the election, all casting their votes for Bergenthal; that absent voters' ballots were cast, without sanction of law in such an election, 16 of which were for Bergenthal and none for Gibbs; and that the election board

Nine Flying Records Broken in Day at Dayton

Nine world flying records, including those for endurance, speed, distance and altitude, were smashed April 17 by army flyers at Dayton, O. Picture shows Lieutenant John A. MacReady (inset) and Lieutenant Oakley Kelly (in plane) and the giant Fokker monoplane T-2 in which they traveled 2541.2 miles, world's distance record.

In the first ward was incompetent and careless in its counting of the ballots, which count should be checked. According to the petition, the correct final tally of legal votes should have been Bergenthal, 231, and Gibbs, 229.

Mayor Bergenthal left yesterday on a business trip to the twin cities, so it is not known what measures he intends to take against the contest.

BEER FAVORED BY SENATE

Four Wisconsin Upper House Members Reverse Vote

Madison, Wis., April 26.—The return of "real beer" was favored by the Wisconsin senate today when it voted 18 to 13 to adopt the Czerwinski substitute amendment to the Burke resolution memorializing Congress to modify the Volstead act to permit beverages of a higher alcoholic content than allowed at present. Four senators who previously voted dry switched to the wet side, giving the anti-prohibition forces their first victory in the upper house.

RARE BOOK IS GIVEN TO STATE LIBRARY HERE

One of two copies existing of a book published in 1629 has been presented to the state historical society by P. O. Bugge, of Bisbee, N. D.

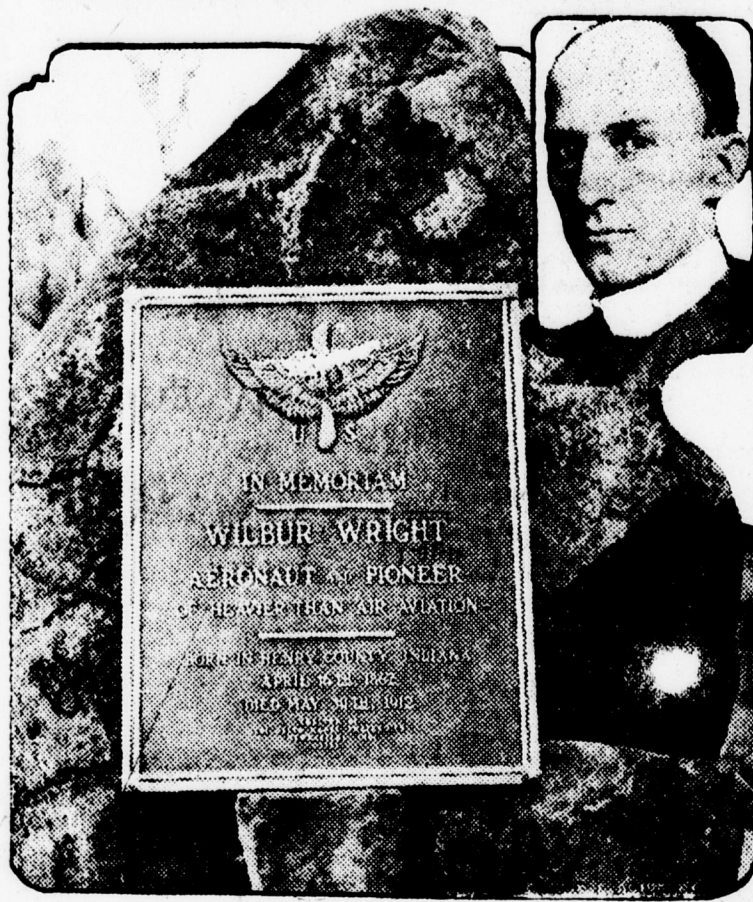

The book, entitled "Gallia sine De Francorum—Commentarius," printed in Latin, was discovered in the northern mountain regions of Norway in 1914 by Mr. Bisbee, in the hands of an old peasant. The peasant made Mr. Bisbee a present of it because of the interest he manifested. Mr. Bisbee says there is one other copy extant, in the University Library of Norway.

Curator M. R. Gilmore also received for the society several old coins from Mr. Bisbee, including foreign coins of date 1645. All are silver pieces.

10 BILLS TO BE REFERRED TO N. D. VOTERS?

Fargo Says League and Others Will Put This Many Before People

INCLUDE ELECTION LAWS

Fargo, April 26.—That ten laws passed by the state legislature last winter will be referred to the people by the Nonpartisan league and other political factions is the statement made today by a writer in the Fargo Forum. This statement says "action was definitely" announced today.

Six of the laws are to be referred in the name of the league; three are being referred through action of leagues who style themselves Republicans, while another is being referred through action of an "individual," the statement says.

Three election laws, three banking laws, one affecting the state mill and others of minor import are listed in the statement published today by the Forum.

Following are the laws said to be scheduled for reference to a vote of the people:

By the Nonpartisan league-senate bill No. 250, rewriting the state guaranty of bank deposits in such manner as to give the commission power to handle and wind up affairs of closed banks. Senate bill No. 267, providing for the method of handling insolvent banks. Senate bill No. 152 establishing a method whereby private state banks may be merged.

Senate bill No. 261, providing for establishment of a board of managers for the conduct of the state house and elevator association. A house bill making appropriation of $10,000 for the payment of expenses of the house audit committee of 1921. House bill No. 204, requiring full text of laws referred to be printed on the ballot.

The election laws to be referred include state law that does away with party primaries and provides for election of officers without respect to national affiliation and related measures that create a new system of party government and which rewrites those features of the primary act by providing for a United States ballot on which the names of candidates for Congress would appear.

The last, or tenth law, to be referred relates to a law which validates bank tax settlement. This measure is being sponsored by F. O. Hellstrom, the article says.

plant here to supply lighting and power current to half a dozen towns and villages in this section, will be installed here within the near future if the plans of a group headed by Philip Smith of the Beulah Electric company, are carried out. Unlimited supply of lignite coal practically at the door of the projected electric power plant is available and it is possible coal land available will be made the site of the proposed plant with a system of "from mine to boiler" established. This, it is estimated, would reduce costs of handling coal except for the original mining and tram car delivery to the furnace door.

TO RID YOURSELF OF A COLD

Colds are contagious. Colds lead to la grippe. Colds lead to pneumonia and death. Colds are not hard to cure if taken in hand. Go to the drug store and get an ordinary twenty-five cent jar of what is known as Mucosolvent Salve. Also get some castor oil or epsom salts.

Melt some of the salve in a spoon; inhale the vapors, clear the head. Insert some of the salve in each nostril, close mouth and breathe deeply; this reaches the upper respiratory tract, soothes the inflamed membranes. Repeat each hour. After a light supper take the purgative and go to bed. Rub Mucosolvent Salve thickly on chest, cover with warm flannels. Sleep with window open.

Tomorrow the cold will probably be gone.
